CO2 Coolifting Gun Consent Form

Description of the Procedure:

Coolifting is a 5 minute skin rejuvenation treatment designed to be a quick, effective treatment to achieve a lifting effect, hydrate skin, lift out wrinkles and brightens skin's complexion. This painless procedure does not require numbing cream during the treatment or special care for the patient before or after treatment. The interval between future sessions is suggested at 3-4 weeks apart but patients can be treated as soon as 1 week. A series of 8 treatments is suggested. Some patients can be treated twice a week.

Contraindications:

There are no contraindications for Coolifting. The treatment can be performed on patients with all skin types. There is no special before or after care.

Side Effects:

There is no downtime after the treatment. Following the procedure, the proprietary gel leaves a nice glow on the skin. The gel can take up to 30 minutes to completely dry following the procedure. After the procedure your skin will look hydrated and plump. Apply sunscreen within 30 minutes of your treatment if you go outside following the treatment.

The Application

The patented Coolifting system delivers a powerful flow of CO2 at a low temperature, with a high concentration of proprietary gel onto the skin. The cold flow of CO2 and proprietary gel combined with the high-pressure application causes:

1. Vasoconstriction followed by vasodilation of blood microcirculation.
2. The low flow and high pressure CO2 activates blood microcirculation, induces the formation of collagen and elastin and increases tissue oxygenation
3. Cold high pressure applied on the epidermis causes intense penetration of proprietary gel
4. Thermal shock stimulates the underlying tissues. The tissues are normally at a temperature of about 36 ° C. The extreme cold causes an instant skin reaction, including reduction in inflammation.
